

COLT.
THE SECRET IS IN THE LEGS

It's the legs that make Colt table so special! The ingenious design of the legs and the unique linking system enable you to create your own customised design. Colt is a conference table that can be built large, small, broad and as long as you like – and put to all sorts of different uses.

Colt can be a conference table, a desk, adjoining workstations, or a focal point for creative meetings.

Ruud Ekstrand's design for Colt, with its clean lines and distinctive contours, is the perfect canvas for creativity, innovation and important decisions. Here – as always in our furniture – form and function meet in perfect synthesis. It's what we call "Scandinavian sense".

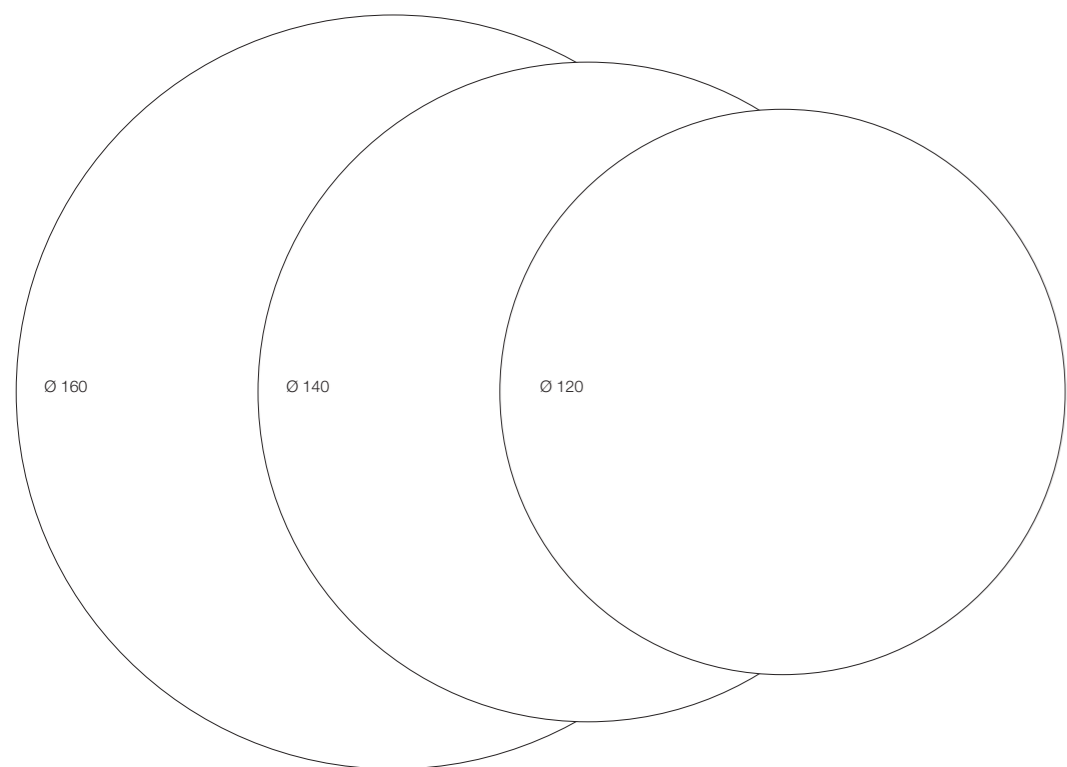

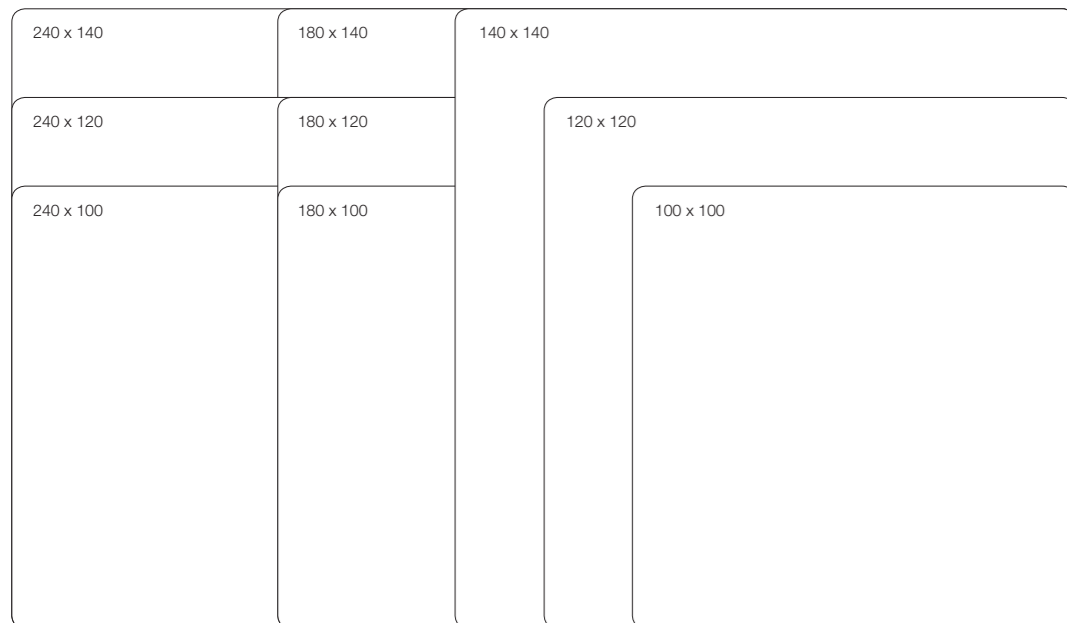

Proactive leadership encourages everyone to work energetically and enthusiastically to reach the same goals. Let Colt be part of an inspiring environment that sends a clear message about the direction you have chosen to take – and is flexible enough to adapt and grow with the passage of time.

Smart boxes inset into the tabletop make it quick and easy to set up connections for computers and lighting. This leaves the work surface more or less free from cables, giving an uncluttered appearance that is restful for the eyes.

TABLES LARGE AND SMALL
– WITHOUT ANY GAPS!

Colt stand-alone tabletops come in 12 sizes. Square, round and rectangular. The largest measures 240 x 140 cm and stands firmly on just four legs. Sturdy, generously proportioned tables that have room for lots of work while still offering plenty of large, free spaces.

COLT

The Colt series includes tables of all sizes – from compact solutions to magnificent conference tables. Thanks to Colt's unique legs, it's easy to create working space for many different applications with either stand-alone or modular tabletops. The legs lock securely in any position, without the need for screws, and can be used to support both end and intermediate sections. Functional and fine-looking, too. Tabletops come in a choice of white laminate, birch veneer or oak veneer. Legs are in white lacquered or polished aluminium.
